USDA National Needs Doctoral Fellowship Opportunity:
Foods and Nutrition for Cancer Prevention

Program Highlights
- Multidisciplinary laboratory research in food and nutrition for cancer prevention
- Integration of plant genetics, food science, nutrition, and cancer concepts through coursework
- Opportunities to develop grant-writing, teaching, and research communication skills
- A monthly stipend and OSU tuition and general fee waiver for up to 4 years

Eligibility
- Must enroll in one of the following doctoral programs in 2015: Interdisciplinary Ph.D. Program in Nutrition (OSUN), Food Science and Technology (FST), Biomedical Sciences Graduate Program (IBGP), or Horticulture and Crop Science (HCS) at OSU
- Must be a citizen or national of the United States
- Must have a cumulative GPA of greater than 3.5

Applications
- Available online: July 2014
- Application deadline: December 13, 2014

Contact Us
- Robin Ralston, ralston.67@osu.edu, 614-292-6487
- Dr. Steven Schwartz, schwartz.177@osu.edu, 614-292-2934
- Website: http://fst.osu.edu/caffre/nnf.html